Patient Waiting Area
Los Angeles, California

The client did not want a typical, drab hospital or medical interior. He requested "a fun-filled, colorful, bright facility that will make people feel good and energized when they come into it".

The solution: a lively interior design using bright accents and a variety of Linn Series® seating forms. Sofas and single chairs give a choice of seating while making maximum use of the room space.

The seating enhances the design objective, a sculptural form repeating its lines and shapes through backs, seats, and arms. Its ergonomic back lumbar support combines design and comfort--just what the doctor ordered for an orthopedic facility.
