

Westland Public Library Children's Section Detroit Michigan

Children are welcomed to their section of the library by a special entrance with bright colors and playful forms.

This mood is carried throughout--even the quiet reading space tucked among the book shelves is an inviting circle of Linn Jr. seating segments. Their curved shapes and bright covers are built to last. The library purchased extra covers with the furniture, so that they can maintain the space now and into the future.

Adult Reference Section Plan

Children's Reading Space Plan

In another area, Laurel Series seating segments create a comfortable alcove for adults to read or relax as they study materials in their reference section