

The Lynn Business Center Stetson University Deland, Florida

Laurel Series 3351-13 inward and 3361-13 outward chair segments from the standard 8 to 20 ft. diameter chair, bench and table segment sizes

The Eugene M. and Christine Lynn Business Center is home to Stetson University's School of Business Administration. A spacious entry area links the original historic building, now completely renovated with state of the art technology, to the new Marshall and Vera lea Rinker Auditorium.

Laurel Series seating segments flowing inward and outward guide people entering and crossing the connecting passage. The seating is an interesting sculptural form, adding pattern and color besides providing comfortable individual seating for visitors and students between classes.
