

Health & Public Affairs Building I
University of Central Florida
Orlando, Florida
Page 1

The HPA I atrium is a popular lounge area for students between classes, a soaring space open for three floors through the center of the building. Huge athletic figures make a colorful design on the main wall; open halls, and lounges form the other three sides of the atrium.

Linn® Series chair segments echo the architectural details, providing comfortable seating in a variety of sculptural forms.

Health & Public Affairs Building I
University of Central Florida
Orlando, Florida

Page 2

Linn® Series seating shown was installed in 1999; still looking very good when these photographs were taken in 2005.

Linn® Series chair segments work with angular and curved walls around the atrium on upper floors. They create pleasant small waiting and study lounge areas, servicing the building's academic offices, labs and classrooms.

Models shown include rectangular chairs 3001, 3051-12 inward and 3061-12 outward chair segments and various laminate tables, which can be rearranged to new combinations if desired.

